PARIS CALLS 600,000

ALLIES MASS ARMIES

PACT STUNS EUROPE

Is It War?

Stunned anti-Nazi Europe called up troops and more troops today as full import of the startling German-Russian "no war" pact was pounded home by triumphant victory cries from Berlin and Rome.

France called up 600,000 reservists. Britain strengthened her home forces. Spain prepared for "any emergency." Little Greece called up her reserves. In Poland more than a million and a half fighting men lined the German-Slovakian borders.

Poland, adamant in the face of the new threat against her integrity, declared again she would fight rather than be dismembered.

British and French cabinets met today. In London Parliament was expected to be called in special session. Prime Minister Chamberlain came in for smashing attacks from the press. His government mandate seemed tottering under the accusations of "dilly-dallying."

In cheering Berlin, it was indicated demands on Poland now would include, not only Danzig, but the entire portion of Poland that belonged to Germany or Austria in 1914—before the "war to end all wars." The Nazis jubilantly pointed out that, with Russian foodstuffs available, Germany no longer could be "starved out" by a British North Sea blockade.

Plans for military aid for Poland from Britain and France—pledged by Chamberlain and French Premier Daladier—were rushed. But military tacticians pointed out that Poland—surrounded as she is—on all sides by "neighbors" linked to Germany by non-aggression pacts—was in an "impossible" situation. The only possibility of aid would seem to be from the air—lightning-like air raids over Germany—or by a complicated expedition through the Black Sea and a Rumanian port.

In Rome officials were surprised at the German-Russian alliance. Mussolini, however, was reported informed in advance of Hitler's intention. A "reliable informant" declared the Hitler-Stalin pact had an "escape" clause in which the pact is void in case either party attacks a third nation.

King Leopold III of Belgium called foreign ministers of six other small nations to join Belgium in a plea for peaceful settlement of major powers' quarrels, with the first meeting set for tomorrow.

Budapest viewed the German-Soviet pact as a possible turning point in world history, which might have major consequences for Hungary, Slovakia, Rumania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia.

PARIS CALLS 600,000 MEN; POLES SAY, 'DANZIG OR WAR'

WARSAW, Aug. 22 (INS)—Still banking on British and French support, Poland refused to budge an inch today from her position that German aggression against Poland in Danzig or elsewhere would mean fight.

"Poland will fight for the political independence of Danzig regardless of the formation of any diplomatic constellations," it was stated in semi-official circles.

"If Germany thinks she can put new pressure on Poland, she is wrong."

Germany is making a serious mistake if she thinks the forthcoming Moscow-Berlin pact means the end of all possibility of Polish resistance, it was asserted in Warsaw.

So, too, is the U. S. S. R. making a mistake is she places too much faith in an agreement with the Reich, Poles felt. Poland in this regard points to the Polish-German non-aggression pact which Chancellor Hitler by one-sided action broke.

Authorities pointed out significantly that Warsaw had never placed much reliance on Soviet aid in case of war, anyway. This was borne out by Poland's consistent refusal to permit the Russian army to move across Polish territory.

Poland herself has a non-aggression pact with Russia, which remains in force.

Nazis Speed Pact Signing

BERLIN, Aug. 22 (AP)—Nazi Germany rushed today toward conclusion of a non-aggression pact with Soviet Russia, a diplomatic coup that startled all Europe.

The move upset the whole structure of the tense middle European situation apparently nullified four months of effort by Great Britain and France to get Russia into their bloc of nations and greatly weakened the position of Poland, on whose frontier German troops were massing.

Disclosure that Germany and Russia, long proponents of rival political systems, were preparing an agreement not to fight each other was made in Berlin and Moscow late last night by brief announcements of the respective official news agencies.

"The government of the Reich and the Soviet government have decided to conclude a non-aggression pact with each other," said the German news agency, DNB, in Berlin.

"WAR THREAT FADES"

"The Reich minister of foreign affairs, Joachim von Ribbentrop, will arrive in Moscow Wednesday to conclude the negotiations."

The statement by Tass, Soviet

Parliament May Be Called

LONDON, Aug. 22 (AP)—An emergency session of the British parliament was forecast in informed political quarters today as Britain and France considered their positions in the new European situation created by the projected German-Russian non-aggression pact.

Both the Labor and Liberal parties have made strong representations to the government to call Parliament back from recess, it was understood, and a decision was expected at this afternoon's cabinet meeting.

If the decision is favorable both houses probably will meet Thursday.

Both France and Britain received news of the proposed German-Russian pact as a terrific blow, but they cautiously awaited details before commenting.

RUSS PARLEY CONTINUES

Officials circles in Paris and London indicated no action was planned—immediately, at least—to break off British-French-Russian military staff talks in Moscow.

The British cabinet met at 2 p. m.

QUESTIONS!—1—Could Britain starve out Germany by North Sea blockade? 2—Could German-Italian air fleet win quick victory by wiping out industrial centers? 3—Would German and French systems of fortifications offset each other? 4—Will Hitler move immediately against Danzig and the Corridor because of the Russian-German pact? 5—Would France try to invade Italy through Alpine passes? 6—Will Generalissimo Franco remain neutral? 7-8—Could Britain block Gibraltar and the Suez canal against Italy? 9—Will Italy try to take Corfu in spite of warnings? 10—Could Britain control the Dardanelles, doorway to Rumania and the Ukraine? Two triangles show (A) how Poland is hemmed in by dictatorship alliance and (B) the British-French-Polish spearpoint of power.

BULLETINS

PARIS, Aug. 22 (INS)—Between 500,000 and 600,000 French army reservists were called to the colors. It was expected that additional reservists would be called during the day.

The first train laden with reservists steamed out of the Glare De L'Est at 1:45 p. m. as troops slowly filled the station.

(Departure of the reservists from the eastern station of Paris indicated that they were being moved as reinforcements to the German frontier).

CANNES, France, Aug. 22 (INS) — Joseph P. Kennedy, United States ambassador to Great Britain, who has been vacationing on the French Riviera, rushed back to London this afternoon in a specially chartered airplane.

DANZIG, Aug. 22 (AP)—Albert Forster, Nazi district leader of Danzig, greeted a mission of jurists from East Prussia today with the declaration, "You are here in a moment when the Free State (of Danzig) approaches its end."

LONDON, Aug. 22 (INS)—With 1,200,000 men already guarding Polish frontier districts, more reserve classes have been called up for the Polish army, the Daily Express reported today from Warsaw.

ATHENS, Aug. 22 (INS)—Reservist officers for the 1935 and 1936 army classes, in all categories, today were called up for active service.

LISBON, Portugal, Aug. 22 (INS)—Spain's ministers for war and aviation have received instructions to organize the army as rapidly as possible to be ready for any eventuality, it was reported from Madrid today.

LONDON, Aug. 22—The London Daily Telegraph's Warsaw correspondent wired that Polish citizens have been advised to hoard two weeks' food supplies, and also have been told to fill bags with 24 hours' supplies, presumably in case evacuation is ordered.

BERLIN, Aug. 22—A general exodus of British nationals from Berlin and Warsaw began today after British embassy and consulate officials warned that there was "no point" in remaining at either capital unless urgent business required.

PARIS, Aug. 22 (INS)—Europe's war scare, intensified by the Russo-German non-aggression pact, caused thousands of vacationers to rush back to Paris from summer resorts today.

THE HAGUE, Aug. 22 (AP)—Coast and border troops on leave in the Netherlands were called back to their units, a government communique said today.

HITLER'S NEW PRICE: POLAND!

BERLIN, Aug. 22 (AP)—Momentous "hand shaking" between Germany and Russia was seen by Germans today as having the effect of accelerating Nazi determination to regain not only "war lost" Danzig but all of Poland which once was Austrian or German.

From the German viewpoint the outlook shapes up this way:

Poland is now "surrounded" by German troops from the eastern border of Slovakia via Bohemia and Moravia up to the Baltic.

Germany moreover has non-aggression pacts with all other neighbors of Poland, meaning they will not attack Germany in case she moves into Poland.

The dream of England and France that Russia might join them in the event of an attack on Poland by Germany is held here to have been shattered.

England and France may regret that their military mission told the Russians what they have to offer in a military way toward an alliance.

The pressure upon Rumania to come within the Rome-Berlin axis orbit will probably be increased greatly now in the knowledge that Russia still looks longingly at Bessarabia.

G-Men Trail Club Girl in Bond Fraud

Search for a girl who has been appearing in a Boston night club, but who has been missing since a week ago Saturday, was begun today by G-men in connection with the nation-wide Kingdom of Belgium forged bond swindle uncovered by Boston bankers.

Josef Schmidt, 35, of Beacon st., Back Bay; Carl Eckert, also 36, a waiter, and Miss Eileen Cooke, 30, of Newton, maid at a Back Bay club, were arrested Saturday in connection with the alleged swindle.

The night club girl, according to officials, is the fiancee of the "brains" of the forged bond gang and they hope to have her for questioning within 24 hours.

SCHMIDT INTERVIEWED

It is understood that she is known to have been in Minneapolis on Aug. 13, and to have made a telephone call from there. Her home is in the West.

While the search was in progress, an immigration investigator visited Schmidt in Charles st. jail, where he is held in high bail on charges of larceny and conspiracy in connection with loans obtained from Boston banking houses on the alleged forged bonds.

The investigator was told by Schmidt that after he had spent "two or three years" in Michigan State Prison he was sent to Ellis Island for investigation of his status here, but was released in a short time.

Immigration officials will request that Ellis Island forward a report on Schmidt's stay there.

Briton Drives 6 Miles a Minute, Man's Fastest Land Travel

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, Aug. 22 (AP)—John R. Cobb of London drove his 24-cylinder "Railton Red Lion" over the measured mile today at more than 6 miles a minute—the fastest man ever traveled on land—but was forced to postpone his try for an official record.

Motor trouble prevented him from meeting the requirement of a return trip within the same hour.

Cobb was clocked at 369.23 m. p. h. for the north run. This far exceeded the 356.44 the record-holder, Capt. George E. T. Eyston of England, maintained for the same run last September.

Cobb, beaming with confidence, climbed into the turtle-shaped comet and started the necessary return trip to make the record official. He shifted to second gear at approximately 125 miles per hour and to high at approximately 240, but the motors stalled and the three-ton machine coasted to a stop one mile from the start.

With only nine minutes of his available hour remaining and no new tires available, Cobb decided to forego another run today.

Cobb, on the first, also exceeded Eyston's kilometer mark of 357.34 m. p. h., being timed at 365.31 miles per hour, but he failed to shatter the record when his car stalled. Eyston's record, made up of the average for both runs, is 357.5 m. p. h.

Sues Coogan for $30,100

PRINCESS LUANA
Asks $30,100 for 'Slur'

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 22 (INS)—That little outburst on Jackie Coogan's part the other evening when he encountered his stepfather, Arthur L. Bernstein, in company with the beautiful Hawaiian entertainer, "Princess Luana" is going to hurl him smack into a courtroom, it was apparent in Hollywood today.

Because the things Jackie assertedly said when he met the pair at a night spot inspired the princess to bring suit for $30,100 damages.

Of course, as everyone knows, there has not been any particular amount of friendship between the one-time "Kid" of silent motion pictures and Bernstein since Jackie brought suit against his mother and step-father for an accounting of the millions he said he earned as a juvenile star.

Recently that case was settled, but for a small part of a million. On frequent occasions Bernstein and Jackie have spoken of each other without any great display of affection in the public prints. Then came the meeting at the Hollywood night spot when Jackie supposedly spoke his piece.

Well, anyhow, the Princess, who adopted the title for stage purposes and in real life is Mary Luana Wallace, says in her complaint that Coogan said his stepfather was "stepping out" with her.

And then, giving the suit something of a real snap, Princess Luana further charges two or three years ago she was employed by Jackie in connection with a vaudeville tour when the actor constantly made an effort to force his attentions on her.

Leila Ernst Pays $2.20 Fine In Auto Case

GLOUCESTER, Aug. 22 "Glamour Girl" Leila Ernst had to pay $2.20 costs of court today because she failed to present her automobile license and registration at Gloucester police headquarters in time.

Stopped July 9, the girl who stepped into the lead in Orson Welles' summer stock company when Elaine Barrie stepped out discovered that she had left her papers at her mother's home on Crafts rd, Chestnut Hill. She said she'd bring them in.

But what with the lunar being jocked and her excitement over "commuting" to New York, where she was signed by George Abbott for a Broadway show opening in October, she forgot all about it, she explained to Judge Morley.

Hospital 'Collusion' Charges Reopened; Hit Doctor, Lawyer

Startling charges that ambulance chasing and collusion of certain doctors with a firm of lawyers still continue at City Hospital were made today by the Boston Finance Commission, despite the fact that hospital officials last spring promised to halt these activities.

As a result, Robert E. Cunniff, secretary of the Finance Commission, forwarded a blunt request to Carl Dreyfus, chairman of the hospital trustees, and Dr. James W. Manary, hospital superintendent, that they confer with him as soon as possible.

According to Cunniff, the same firm of lawyers which ultimately was complained of to the Boston Bar Ass'n both by the finance commission and Corporation Counsel Henry Parkman, Jr., and the same hospital doctor chiefly complained of, are still working together.

The finance commission, through Cunniff, has reopened the probe into conditions at the hospital and the alleged mulcting of injury victims as the result of a complaint made by City Solicitor Robert Gardner Wilson, Jr., of Dorchester, an attorney with a considerable clientele.

CITES ACCIDENT CASE

His complaint to the Finance Commission is that several weeks ago a client of his was seriously injured in a South End automobile accident and was taken to City Hospital.

As a result of the injured man's request, Wilson later brought suit to recover for the injuries.

Yesterday, Councillor Wilson went to Pemberton square courthouse, he said, to inquire if the case had been marked up for trial and there learned—to his amazement—that another lawyer had taken over the case and had settled it for approximately $2600.

CAME BEARING GIFT

Delving into this curious switch, Wilson learned that the other lawyer, informed of the case, went to the injured man's bedside at the hospital, presented the patient with some fruit—and then introduced himself.

For 14 evenings thereafter, 6 a. m. and this unctuous lawyer, Wilson asserted, hit the patient's bedside simultaneously, and usually the lawyer had fruit or something.

Wilson said that an officer of the Boston fire department, who occupied an adjoining bed, will be a witness to the charge that when the first visit was made the lawyer was unknown to the auto victim.

According to Secretary Cunniff, when the probe was launched last spring Dr. Manary asserted that in the future all lawyers would be barred from City Hospital wards and that any patient who desired to see a lawyer would have to send that attorney written authorization before would be admitted.

Cunniff said that after the spring probe, all available information collected was placed before the board of hospital trustees, the information including charges that certain doctors were in collusion with certain lawyers and that one doctor even was associated with the law firm of which Wilson now complains.

So far as the Finance Commission knows, however, nothing was ever done by the trustees, and the various doctors against whom complaint was made are still associated with the hospital staff.

ASK LIFE GUARDS RETURN AS 6 DIE

RYE BEACH, N. H., Aug. 22—Town authorities today drafted a demand for re-establishment of the abandoned Rye Beach Coast Guard station—situated only a few hundred yards from where six victims of a fishing party were drowned and cast on shore.

H. Russell Sawyer, chairman of the Rye Beach Precinct Commission, declared the tragedy could have been averted if the station had not been closed as an economy measure two years ago.

He added that the accident was the worst involving a private craft in these waters in 35 years and that the closing of coast guard stations left the coastline unprotected from Portsmouth Harbor to Hampton Beach.

The victims, members of a yachting party that had gaily set out on a fishing trip Sunday in the cabin cruiser Nodska, had been pounded by the gale-driven surf of last night over a quarter of a mile of rocks jutting from the beach into the sea.

The six were identified in a Portsmouth funeral parlor, where they were taken by Medical Examiner Dr. Frederick Ray. They were:

Ethelyn Cutter, 18, Newmarket, N. H.; Walter Hargraves, her fiance, 24, Newmarket, N. H.; Ralph Pryor, 55, uncle of Miss Cutter and owner of the Nodska, Dover Point, N. H.; Frank Plant, New Boston, N. H.; Joseph Wajnar, 23, Newmarket, N. H.; Clarence Yeaton, 46, Dover Point.

The bodies, strewn along the beach, were found by Ann Locke, 16, and her 14-year-old brother, John, of Methuen, Mass. The two youngsters, horrified by their gruesome discovery, called Police Chief A. M. Remick, who summoned Dr. Ray.

All five men were life preservers, and an extra life belt, apparently torn from the body of the girl, lay near the stretch of the beach where the bodies were found. A rope had been lashed about the body of Pryor.

Charred portions of what is believed to be their boat were found and Police Chief Remick believed that the six were confronted with the choice of drowning or being burned to death. His theory is that they tried to attract aid by using a flare signal made by dipping a swab in the gasoline tank.

In doing so, the chief believes, they set the boat afire and after trying to put it out, had to don life preservers, leap into the water and take their chances with the raging sea.

Find Mother Girl Drowned

WEST BALDWIN, Me., Aug. 22—The bodies of a mother and daughter were recovered from the waters of Breakneck brook today, not far from the spot where they had been swept beneath the swollen stream in a cloudburst that flooded farms and washed out bridges.

Both had drowned. They were Mrs. Martha Cotton, 35, and her daughter Rachel, 9. Down stream, where the brook joins the Saco river, was found the body of Clarence Lament, who had vainly tried to aid them, only to succumb, according to the medical examiner, to heart disease.

Raymond Cotton, the woman's husband, was swept under when the bridge on which all three were standing collapsed, but managed to save himself by swimming ashore.

The storm, termed one of the worst in the history of this area, washed out highways and cut off the Mountain Division of the Maine Central R. R. connecting Portland and St. Johnsbury, Vt. Towns hardest hit included West Baldwin, Hiram, Cornish, Limerick and Parsonfield.

ELSIE ROBINSON writes the woman's viewpoint, discusses every-day affairs and problems, regularly in the Boston American.

Textile Pay Decision Seen Within Month

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22 (AP)—A decision from Elmer F. Andrews, administrator of the wage-hour act, was expected within a month on the proposed 32½-cent an hour minimum wage for the textile industry.

Final arguments for and against the proposed universal minimum wage recommended by a textile industry committee were received today by the wage-hour division.

CANCER VICTIM IN FROZEN SLEEP

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 22 (AP)—A 53-year-old man rested today under the scrutiny of three physicians after five days of "frozen sleep," medical science's newest treatment for cancer.

The experiment was disclosed after the patient was thawed back to consciousness last night. It was conducted at St. John's Hospital by Drs. Alex Jones, James Graham and Henry Aahauer.

Afflicted with cancer of the prostate gland, the patient began the treatment last Thursday. For five days he lay unconscious in an ice-packed porcelain bed, his temperature lowered to 86 degrees, 12.6 below normal.

X-Ray pictures of the cancer growth will be made several days hence. Not until then, Dr. Jones said, would the results of the experiment be known. The physicians said the man, whose name was withheld, apparently suffered no ill effects from his "hibernation."

The "frozen sleep" cancer treatment is based on the idea that refrigeration retards the growth of cancerous tissue. It was developed at the Temple University School of Medicine at Philadelphia. No cures have been claimed for the method but Drs. Temple Fay and George C. Henny of Temple University have reported favorable results in relieving pain and reductions in the size of cancers.

VOTE RAIL STRIKE IN ENGLAND

LONDON, Aug. 22 (AP)—A strike on England's four main railroads, effective Saturday, was decided upon late today by the executive committee of the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen.

The strike decision followed failure of the companies to agree to raise minimum weekly wages from 48 shillings ($11.25) to 50 shillings ($12.50).

All labor will be withdrawn, the union announced, unless an agreement is reached before Saturday.

The union membership is more than 55,000.

General managers of the railroads, the London, Midland & Scottish, London Northeastern, Southern, and the Great Western, were notified, as was the Minister of Labor.

England's other large railworkers union, the National Union of Railwaymen, also was meeting to determine its course in the face of the railways' refusal to meet demands for a 50-shilling minimum weekly wage.

Sophie Tucker Put on Trial For 'Treason'

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (INS)—A Broadway theater tieup that eventually may have nationwide ramifications was threatened today as the Council of Actors Equity Association prepared to try Sophie Tucker, in absentia, on a charge of treason.

The specific accusation is that after the American Federation of Actors, of which she is president, was expelled from the Associated Actors and Artists of America, the parent A. F. of L. group she led the organization into the stagehands' union, also a A.A. affiliate.

If she is expelled or suspended from Equity, it will mean a Broadway show featuring her won't be able to reopen. And then the stagehands are expected to go into action, which many fear will result in closed theaters on Broadway and elsewhere.

Now $50,000 On Lepke's Head

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (AP)—The price on Louis (Lepke) Buchalter's head went up to $50,000 today.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation, it was learned from an official source, was prepared to pay $25,000 for information leading to the arrest of the fugitive industrial racketeer. The city of New York already has offered $25,000 for Lepke, dead or alive, while the earlier FBI reward was fixed at $5000.

The source which disclosed the FBI's willingness to pay a bigger price for Lepke—delivered alive—said that it was part of a standing policy of the bureau to put informers on the money comes from a confidential fund appropriated by Congress under the sole control of J. Edgar Hoover, FBI head.

Legion Assails V.F.W. Contest

Asserted insistence by the Veterans of Foreign Wars that VFW rules must be followed in the World Series Drum Corps Contest during the national VFW convention next week brought a quarrel today with the American Legion.

According to publicity releases, Marlboro Post, American Legion Drum Corps, objects to the rules inasmuch as the corps now holds the title of world champion, and is threatening to withdraw from the competition.

It is stated, however, that "in the meantime the VFW continues to make reservations for the Pageant of Drums, in which 100 corps will participate at Harvard Stadium Aug. 30."

YD TROOPS DIG IN FOR MIMIC FIGHT

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., Aug. 22—A "black" force of more than 6000 regular army troops, ordered to hold its ground "at all costs," held grimly today on a five-mile front in the face of an offensive by a numerically superior "blue" army.

At the same time, 20 miles eastward, two opposing forces of National Guardsmen, each of at 16,000 strong, dug in for another but unrelated "finish fight."

One of the forces included Massachusetts' own 26th division which repelled an attack by New York and New Jersey troops at the Saranac river, in the first "real battle" of the First Army maneuvers.

Looking on was Governor Saltonstall of Massachusetts as the 27th division of New York and New Jersey harried the 26th of Massachusetts and the 43rd division of Connecticut.

Counter-attacking, the New England group launched an offensive which sent the 182d regiment across the stream to flank the invaders and the latter were compelled to withdraw soon after noon.

As the fighting continued during the afternoon, the New Englanders strengthened their positions along a nine-mile front and engineers were rushed into action to throw up a trestle bridge near the center of the line. All bridges had previously been theoretically destroyed by heavy artillery fire.

Late in the afternoon the 66th tank battalion went into action, moving toward the trestle bridge with the apparent intention of delivering a surprise stroke at the enemy front.

Wheeling into action against them was the mechanized 7th Cavalry of Ft. Knox, Kentucky, which had idled most of the day on the enemy's left flank.

Boston's 101st Engineers got their first taste of action as a unit today when they were pressed into service in the bridge-building operation.

Sobbing Girl Heads Barre Bid for Troops

A delegation of 15 residents and non-strikers from Barre today appeared at the State House to demand state police protection for the strike-torn town.

Led by a 22-year-olds girl who had the clothes stripped from her back by strikers in a riot yesterday and a housewife whose husband, three sons and two daughters have remained at work in the Barre Wool Combing Co.'s month-old strike, the committee first visited the Governor's office and asked Executive Secretary Carroll Meinsf or return of the state troopers recently removed by the Governor.

GIRL MAKES APPEAL

The girl, Anne Maisulatale, an office worker supposedly not affected by the strike, broke down as she made a dramatic plea to Meins.

"What right have the strikers clothes off," the girl cried, breaking out to attack me and pull my ing into sobs.

"The office workers aren't on strike. I'm not on strike," she added tearfully.

Mrs. George Crowley, whose husband, three son, and two daughters all work in the mill, told Meins that " we insist on protection.'

"If the majority were out on strike, I wouldn't let my family go to work either, she declared, but the strikers are a minority."

SAYS SHERIFFS WATCHED

Another spokesman described this morning's rioting in which Levon Yacubian, plant manager, was knocked down and beaten. He charged that two sheriff's deputies stood by and watched the incident.

Meins, however, declared the state could not move until every other chance of keeping order had been exhausted. He indicated that nothing would be done until the Governor's return from the Plattsburg war games next Thursday.

Mrs. Crowley declared the whole town of Barre was in a state of disorder, with women afraid to venture on the streets, and householders patrolling their property amed with shot-guns.

20 MORE DEPUTIES

Meanwhile, Sheriff Oscar Rachelleau of Worcester County called for 20 more deputies, following today's renewed outbreaks of disorder, to supplement the 20 already on duty.

Captain John F. Stokes of the state police was assigned to the strike area as an observer, with orders to report the situation to Commissioner McSweeney and to Lieutenant - Governor Cahill, to whom town authorities made appeal in the absence of the Governor.

While violence flared in front of the plant, A. F. of L. union leaders arranged a Providence conference today, to be attended by C. M. Fox, president of the United Textile Workers of America, Chairman Francis A. Gorman of the union's executive council; Herbert Thatcher, assistant general counsel for the A. F. of L. and others.

'Non-Existent' Wife Is Granted Divorce

When her husband began to ignore her existence, she thought it was time to leave him, Mrs. Edith Charlotte Merwin, of Beach st., Revere, told Judge William M. Prest in Suffolk divorce court today.

Following her testimony, Judge Prest awarded Mrs. Merwin a divorce from George P. Merwin, Revere funeral director, together with custody of their two children, Elaine, 13, and Edwin, 12, and $7 a week for their support.

Mrs. Merwin testified that after she had left her husband, he pleaded with her to take him back, and they were reconciled for a time. But the second try was no better than the first, she said—in fact, it was not long before he began calling her names in front of the children.

TELLS OF BEATINGS

A blonde and attractive young mother from South Boston secured another of the five divorces granted during the day by Judge Prest when she testified that her husband used to come home intoxicated and beat her.

She was Mrs. Edna M. Foscaldo, granted her divorce from Frank Foscaldo on grounds of cruel and abusive treatment, with custody of their six year old child, Joan.

Once, Mrs. Foscaldo said, her husband came home from serving time on Deer Island, sneaked up behind her as she was sitting in the home of a friend, tapped her on the shoulder, and when she turned, hit her in the face.

WED 19 YEARS

Testifying her husband, Arthur C. Ripley of Burlington, Vt., left her four years ago, after 19 years of marriage, Mrs. Mabel J. Dipley was given a decree on grounds of desertion. Mrs. Ripley is a cook at the Boston Home for Incurables.

Mrs. Miriam Freeman of Boston told Judge Prest her husband left her in 1935, after they had been married four years, telling her he was going to New York to look for a job. She hasn't seen him since, she testified. She was awarded custody of their eight-year-old child.

Position of Poland Greatly Weakened

official News Agency, said there was a desire of the two nations to "eliminate the threat of war and sign a non-aggression pact," and added that Von Ribbentrop was coming to Moscow "for the purpose of negotiations."

An informative analysis supplied to the foreign press by an officially inspired source characterized the proposed pact as "a turning point in history."

"In political circles in this country," this source said, "great satisfaction obtains over the development of the German-Soviet Russian relations as indicated by the announcement of the coming signing of a non-aggression pact between the Reich and the Soviet."

TURNING POINT IN HISTORY

"It is learned that after an agreement was achieved concerning a new treaty which envisages an exchange of goods on the biggest scale imaginable the wish becomes purely discernible also to normalize political relations, in order thereby to furnish the security that the exchange of goods will take place with greatest certainty.

"Political circles describe this fact as an historical turning point, in that both now revert to the traditional good relations that for centuries characterized German and Russian history."

Von Ribbentrop arranged to fly to Moscow, where he will undertake necessary negotiations tomorrow.

It was stated here that little remains to be done except to sign the accord—that the preliminary spade work has been thorough.

Meanwhile, big guns — some of which astonished foreign military attaches when they were first shown in Berlin recently — continued to roll toward the Polish border.

Officials and the press, appraising the decision to sign a pact with Russia, called Germany "the invincible exclamation point."

The move was described by diplomatic observers to be Adolf Hitler's master stroke.

In the World War, the great Russian bear, putting up a stubborn fight on the eastern frontier, sapped much of Germany's strength.

Germany's position toward Poland was believed here tremendously strengthened and Warsaw, to German eyes, suddenly became small and comparatively insignificant.

Whether culmination of the Polish problem would be speeded up remained a question. Observers said Germany certainly would not take any final action in the direction of Poland for a day or two.

The "peace conference" called by Leopold, King of the Belgians, for Wednesday lost significance to Germans as they took account of their improved position.

Germany's new position and the conviction that the so-called "encirclement policy" of the Western powers had been smashed, was more important to most Germans than the prospect of appeasement talks in Brussels.

"What will the British cabinet have to talk about this afternoon?" was a question frequently proposed by one smiling Berliner to another.

"Our troubles are over in the East," said the press. "We can devote undivided attention to the West, and prospective invaders better beware."

Danzig Hails New Treaty

DANZIG, Aug. 22 (INS) — News of the German-Soviet non-aggression accord was received with surprise and jubilation here today by Free City Nazi circles, and the opinion was expressed that following actual signing of the treaty Germany will present Poland with a 24-hour ultimatum to hand Danzig over to the Reich.

GERMAN AIMS—While Danzig is the ostensible aim of Germany in the present crisis, it was revealed today that the nation hopes to win back the shaded area (1) of this map, taken from her after the World War to make up an independent Poland . . . and to win back the land (2) taken from Austria. Impetus to the dream came with the Moscow-Berlin pact.

SEE END TO RUSS TALK WITH ALLIES

MOSCOW, Aug. 22 (INS)—Fate of the Anglo-French-Soviet military and naval conversations, which had been travelling a rough road even before announcement of negotiations for a Soviet-German anti-war agreement, was the immediate question occupying diplomats today.

That all talk of Soviet participation in an alliance with France and Britain is dead was obvious, and the general feeling was that staff talks quickly would follow political conversations into the discard.

The powerful radio station here which for months past has broadcast nightly attacks upon the Nazis, and in long-range broadcasts urged German workers to slow down and sabotage, tonight broadcast a musical program in place of the usual nightly four-hour anti-Nazi attack.

Soviet comment on the Berlin thunderbolt was elusive. Officially it was limited to this announcement:

"Following conclusion of the Soviet-German trade agreement, there arose the problem of improving political relations between Germany and the U. S. S. R.

"An exchange of views which took place between the governments established that both parties, desirous of relieving tension in their political relations and eliminate the menace of war, will conclude a non-aggression pact.

"Consequently the German minister for foreign affairs, Joachim von Ribbentrop, will arrive in Moscow in a few days for corresponding negotiations."

Small Nations Answer Call

BRUSSELS, Aug. 22 (AP)—The foreign ministers of seven small European nations—the "Oslo group"—began arriving today for a swift conference which Belgium, the sponsor, emphasized would not "make a Munich out of Brussels."

A belief persisted that the conference might draft a peace plea on the broadest lines but would simultaneously disavow any attempt at mediation.

Invitations to the conference on "subjects of common interest," notably their own neutrality in event of war, were accepted by Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Finland, the Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The meeting will begin tomorrow in the foreign ministry facing King Leopold's royal palace in the heart of Brussels. A foreign office official said the talks would probably take "not more than 48 hours."

Pope to Call on World for Peace

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 22 (AP)—A Papal authority said today Pope Pius is considering a broadcast to the world of a speech in which he is expected to renew his appeal for peace.

The address will be delivered to approximately 20,000 members of the young Catholic workers' organizations, mostly from France and Belgium, who are coming to Rome on a pilgrimage, Sept. 6.

Pole Guards Fire On Nazi Officers

BERLIN, Aug. 22 (INS)—Two more Polish-German border incidents today added to Europe's fright, but in Germany a triumphant populace held to the initial belief that the Russo-German pact means peace for all.

Reports from Mischalkowitz, near Moravian Ostrau, said Polish customs officials fired on, but missed, two German customs officials. The Germans did not reply to the fire.

A similar incident involving shooting by Polish customs men was related from Reichswaldau. None of the Germans was wounded.

See Japs Attempt To Win Over U. S.

TOKYO, Aug. 22 (AP)—Japan is expected by observers to renew attempts to win American friendship because of the imminent German-Soviet non-aggression pact and at the same time risk increased Soviet activity on Sakhalin Island and in outer Mongolia.

HURT IN ELEVATOR FALL

John Allen, 21, of Central ave., Newtonville, was injured today when he accidentally fell 15 feet into an elevator well in a Stuart st., Back Bay, building.

Nazi 'Super Guns' Head for Poland

GLEIWIT, Aug. 22 (AP)—Four of Germany's famous motorized "super guns" and AP attendant ammunition train rolled through Gleiwitz at 2:50 a. m.

Each sixteen-foot, ten-inch calibre barrel was carried on three sets of trucks and the ground and firing mechanism on three other sets of trucks drawn before them.

From the direction of the railroad station the half mile column approached and disappeared into the dark headed toward this city's military garrison.

'DYNAMITE' U. S. VIEW OF PACT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22 (INS)—A sleepless State Department, gravely eyeing its European cable, today refused to draw hasty conclusions from the Russo-German non-aggression pact, but admitted the situation is "dynamite," with collapse of French-Anglo-Soviet attempts to fashion an impregnable "peace front" against the axis powers almost inevitable.

Beyond admitting President Roosevelt is being kept closely informed by naval radio of the threatening European situation, high officials of the department would only say that "panic reasoning" should be avoided.

In State Department and diplomatic circles the startling announcement the long-time enemies — Germany and Russia — will conclude a non-aggression treaty spurred widening speculation, with various quarters advancing the following contentions:

1—President Roosevelt, returning to the capital aboard the U. S. S. Tuscaloosa, will renew efforts to force congressional revision of neutrality legislation to permit this country to aid Britain and France, by methods "short of war," in their stand against Germany and Italy.

2—The Russo-German pact will crumble the Italo-Jap-Germany anti-Comintern alliance, because a German pledge not to attack Russia would strip from Japan its benefits from the coalition, and give the Soviet free rein in combatting Nippon's invasion of China.

3—The Russo-German agreement may indicate a schism between Hitler and Mussolini. Reports have reached the capital for nearly a year that Germany and Russia might combine "red and brown Bolshevism" to control Europe, with Nazi industry and Soviet raw materials complementing each other.

4—Russo-German pact designed (A) by Germany to force softening of French and British attitude toward Danzig or (B) by Russia, as "pressure politics" to force France and Britain into outright military alliance with Soviets.

Italy Now Expected To Boost Demands

ROME, Aug. 22 (AP)—Diplomatic quarters expected Premier Mussolini today to move quickly to get his share of benefits foreseen under the German-Soviet non-aggression pact.

The possible result of the pact and its implication of Soviet support for Chancellor Hitler's expansion plans are so extensive, some diplomats felt, that Il Duce may strive to get far more than merely Italy's demands on France.

In recent months, Fascist agitation for colonial concessions from France had subsided. The issues were defined by Mussolini March 26 in a Fascist anniversary address declaring that problems between the two countries were "Tunisia, Jibuti and the Suez Canal."

The minimum significance given to the announcement of the pact by these quarters was that Russia has given up the idea of joining the British-French front which the Rome-Berlin axis powers have attacked as an "encirclement program."

Many diplomats were of the opinion Hitler had paid a high price for the Russian move, and that a definite understanding which may change many frontiers in Central and Eastern Europe must have been reached.

Some thought it might lead even to a partition of Poland and the annexation of the Baltic States by Russia.

They thought it also might spell the doom of Rumania, with Russia regaining Bessarabia; Hungary, under German domination, regaining Transylvania; and Bulgaria, under Italian-German influence, regaining Dobruja.

Since it appeared certain the axis was as strong as ever and that the German action was taken with the whole knowledge and co-operation of Mussolini, diplomats assumed he also had assurances Italian interests would be advanced through it.

Some thought he might turn toward Yugoslavia. Italy's occupation of Albania gives her a foothold in this direction, and she has historic claims on the Dalmation coast.

RED PACT'S 3 POINTS

ROME, Aug. 22 (AP)—The proposed Soviet-German non-aggression pact will contain a provision permitting its denunciation in the event either party commits an act of aggression against a third country, a reliable informant said today.

The pact, this informant said, would contain three main points:

1—Pledge to abstain from aggression against one another.

2—In case one party is the victim of an attack by a third party, the other will remain neutral.

3—In case either commits an act of aggression, the other may denounce the agreement.

In some pro-Soviet circles the agreement as outlined was regarded as not necessarily incompatible with an alliance among England, France and Russia.

The News That Stunned Europe

BERLIN, Aug. 22—Disclosure that Germany and Russia were preparing an agreement not to fight each other was made in Berlin and Moscow late last night by brief announcements of the respective official news agencies.

Adolf Hitler

"The government of the Reich and the Soviet government have decided to conclude a non-aggression pact with each other," said the German news agency, DNB, in Berlin.

"The Reich minister of foreign affairs (Joachim von Ribbentrop) will arrive in Moscow Wednesday to conclude the negotiations."

Josef Stalin

(The statement by Tass, Soviet official News Agency, said there was a desire of the two nations to "eliminate the threat of war and sign a non-aggression pact," and added that Von Ribbentrop was coming to Moscow "for the purpose of negotiations.")

Reds Reassure Britain, France

LODON, Aug. 22 (INS)—Soviet embassy circles today called attention to the significant fact that non-aggression pacts to which the U. S. S. R. is a party usually do not operate if either signatory acts as the aggressor against a third party.

Therefore, Soviet representatives here said there was no reason why the Brit and French should abandon Moscow negotiations aimed at three-power cooperation against aggression.

CALL TO PARLIAMENT LOOMS IN WAR CRISIS

and the French cabinet planned to meet two hours later.

Downing st. was packed with curious crowds who watched ministers and foreign affairs experts entering and leaving the prime minister's residence.

Among callers at 10 Downing st. were Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax, Home Secretary Sir Samuel Hoare, Air Minister Sir Kingsley Wood, Sir Robert Vansittart, chief diplomatic adviser to the government, and Sir Alexander Cadogan, permanent undersecretary for foreign affairs.

Halifax talked with the prime minister for an hour and a half.

While Halifax was there, the German charge d'affaires, Dr. Theodore Kordt, visited the Foreign Office.

SHOCK TO ALLIES

Official circles in Paris and London admitted they knew nothing of the projected German-Russian pact until it was officially announced in Berlin.

The announcement immediately brought foreign officials into action and some of them were up most of the night.

This afternoon the British government had received no information besides copies of the German and Russian communiques which were telegraphed by British envoys.

Hope was expressed in some quarters that the proposed German-Russian pact might be phrased in such a way as to permit the Soviet Union to join Britain and France in the tri-power mutual assistance pact which has been under negotiation for more than two months.

It was pointed out that Russia now has a non-aggression agreement with Italy providing the pact would become void in the event one of the signatories committed aggression. Such a clause, it was said, might be included also in the German-Russian pact.

COUNTED ON SOVIET AID

If this should prove the case, the situation might not be greatly disturbed. There was fear in some quarters, however, that the pact might be such that it would exclude Russia from the British-French front.

Britain and France had counted heavily on Russian cooperation in their support of Poland in her dispute with Germany over Nazi demands for a Danzig reunion and right-of-way through Pomorze, the Polish Corridor, to East Prussia.

Despite tactical disadvantages presented in the idea of Poland locked between Germany and Russia, sources close to the government insisted Britain's position would remain "steadfast and unaltered."

They said she would welcome a settlement of the Polish-German dispute by negotiations acceptable to all parties, but would countenance no attempt to alter the status by force.

France on Alert, Troops March Into Forts

PARIS, Aug. 22 (AP)—France stood in a state of alert today with reservists called to the colors even before the cabinet met to sign emergency military decrees.

Announcement of the German-Russian negotiations for a non-aggression pact, officially viewed as "nothing new" at the foreign office, nonetheless led France to go a step further in military preparedness.

Under Premier Daladier's firm rule by strict decree no estimate was available of the number of men added to a normal standing armyof more than 700,000.

The war ministry was silent. Private estimates from usualy well-informed sources said, however, that between 300,000 and 600,000 Reservists had aready been called to the colors.

Where they went was also a secret, although it is known the Maginot Line fortifications opposite Germany and the fortifications on the Italian frontier are adequately manned.

As the Cabinet went into session at the War Ministry it was officially announced the Chamber of Deputies Foreign Affairs Committee had been called to meet Friday.

Pact Puts U. S. Reds in Pickle

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (INS)—Suddenly allied by Moscow with the Nazi and Fascist front it has always berated and denounced, the Communist party in the United States took time out today to see where it stands.

"The Communist party will make its position known by tomorrow morning. There will be no statement before that time," was the information relayed from Earl Browder, secretary of the party, to the press.

The Daily Worker, official newspaper of the party, was silent today on the Berlin-Moscow pact.

Hitler Coup Delights Spain, Sees No War

MADRID, Aug. 22 (AP)—The Spanish press today hailed as a master stroke of diplomacy the announcement that a non-aggression pact between Germany and Russia would be signed and declared the attempts of the democracies to "encircle" Germany were a complete failure. Spaniards generally were jubilant.

'WORLD'S ULTIMATE CATASTROPHE' SEEN

By H. R. KNICKERBOCKER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, Aug. 22—Chancellor Hitler's military power has been doubled overnight.

Rid of Russia in the East, today he has to consider a real war only on one front—the West.

He forthwith will apply Germany's vast menace. If that proves of no avail, he will throw terrific force against Poland for a speedy and easy victory, while the allies of the "peace front," blown up by the bread of a traitor within, will face either humiliation and ultimate submission, or a long war and possible defeat.

Hitler's greatest diplomatic victory is Europe's greatest catastrophe. This was the first shocked, hysterical reaction on the continent today to the German announcement that Red and Brown Bolshevism were about to join hands that Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop of Germany was flying to Moscow to complete a non-aggression agreement between Hitler and Stalin.

"ULTIMATE CATASTROPHE"

Whatever may be the ultimate consequences, nothing can exaggerate the sensational effect of the Berlin announcement on every category of observer.

"I don't believe it," was the exclamation that rang through chancelleries, in the newspapers and in homes throughout Europe as thousands of telephone calls brought the news to men unwilling to believe that the event which Winston Churchill once called "the ultimate catastrophe" had really happened.

It was small consolation to the little group of persistent pessimists who had foreseen the probability now to realize that if the worst interpretation of the German announcement proves true, it may justify the gloomiest predictions of the modern world's most melancholy Jeremiahs.

This, however, is not yet certain. All that is known is that it is at least a disaster to the allied peace front—but what the dimensions of the disaster are will not be known until the terms of the German-Russian agreement are made public.

WHAT TREATY MEANS

The very least that the new non-aggression treaty between Germany and Russia could mean would be:

1—Failure, under the most ignominious circumstances, of the Anglo-French military mission to Moscow and the attempt to form an Anglo-French-Russian military alliance.

2—That thereby Germany is freed from the danger of war on two fronts, since Poland, without Russian help, could last, in allied opinion, only six weeks against the German army.

3 (depending upon the terms of the agreement)—That Russia probably won't furnish even supplies to the allies, including Poland, or that she will not only deny any aid to Germany's enemies, but will supply Germany.

These changes in the European picture constitute an upset in the balance of power at least equal to that of last September, and some of Europe's most experienced diplomats, including Americans, soberly observed today.

"It is worse than Munich—more far reaching—and ultimately it will affect every living person upon the globe."

"RED GOES JUDAS"

Among violent feelings initially expressed on all sides was intense revulsion against the Soviet Union, and terms as strong as "Judas nation" could be heard, particularly among persons who had advocated soliciting Russia as an ally.

It may prove untrue, but at first sight it appeared to many that the Kremlin deliberately led the allies into sending a military mission to Moscow in order to obtain their military secrets, only to be able, at the critical moment, to double-cross them.

Characteristically, the Poles took it most calmly, and with that typical confidence which their allies consider as possibly exaggerated, their spokesmen abroad declared it didn't matter.

One Polish diplomat told me:

"There is nothing to get excited about; we never wanted Russia as an ally. If she has only agreed to stay neutral, that suits us splendidly."

Like all his countrymen, he was confident Poland could handle Germany alone. His confidence was not shared by the highest allied military authorities, and among the gloomy reactions engendered by Berlin's announcement was the widespread fear that Poland might now be compelled to make concessions first in Danzig, then in the corridor and Silesia, eventually to suffer the fate of Czechoslovakia.

MUST AID POLAND

Now, more than ever, it is first Poland that holds the issue of war or peace in her hands.

Notwithstanding Berlin's confident announcement that the Russo-German non-aggression pact would compel Britain and France to abandon "interference" with a German settlement of the Polish problem, there is absolutely no sign in Paris or London that either government has weakened in its resolution to live up to the terms of the guarantee to Poland.

While the German announcement of the new pact shook British and French statesmen, it threw nobody into a panic along the democracies, whereas some comfort was found in the reflection that lines are now more clearly drawn, and it won't be necessary to accept, and mourn the Red guy to fight the Brown ogre.

Much more solid satisfaction was expressed at the effect of the Russo-German pact upon Japan, where astonishment at the defection of her partner in the anti-Comintern pact may be more profound than elsewhere.

It was pointed out that herein, too, could lie the Russo-German pact's meaning for America, because if Russia is guaranteed by Germany in the West she is thereby enabled to menace Japan in the East, and the Nipponese are likely to refrain from attacking the white powers in Asia.

Red Coup Joker in Pact

By FRANK GERVASI
International News Service Foreign Staff

There can be no doubt that, in terms of the Danzig crisis, Hitler has won a tremendous victory by obtaining Russian agreement to a non-aggression pact. There can be no doubt that his sudden move has caught the rest of Europe absolutely unawares. And there can be no doubt this diplomatic triumph has cost him much.

Until the exact terms of the pact are finally negotiated and made public, the effects of the latest Nazi diplomatic coup can scarcely be foretold. But they are bound to be momentous, not only for Europe but for the entire world.

First news of Hitler's coup left Great Britain and France almost speechless.

As in most diplomatic moves, there is a joker in the proceedings between Berlin and Moscow. This is the clause inherent in most Russian non-aggression treaties stipulating that such pacts become inoperative if either signatory acts as aggressor against a third party.

Thus, if this clause is part of the Russo-German pact and is strictly observed, the Soviets would not be bound to respect the treaty in the event of German aggression against Poland.

For the future, some circles in London and Paris regard the outlook as darker than ever. They fear Berlin and Moscow are making a deal to divide up eastern Europe.

It seems obvious, however, that Hitler is making major sacrifices to gain Russia as an ally. In view of the enmity between Moscow and Tokyo, Hitler seems to be throwing over Japan. It is a good guess that the Soviets, before agreeing to the pact with the Nazis, demanded, and obtained, a free hand in the Far East.

He also seems to be risking trouble with his axis partner, Mussolini, who often has denounced the Reds. There can be no question the Italians, long nourished on anti-Soviet propaganda, will look upon the Russians as strange political bedfellows.

FINALLY, THERE IS THE FOSSIBILITY THAT STALIN IS PLAYING A WILY GAME FOR HUGE STAKES, AND THAT HIS EMBRACE OF HITLER MAY IN REALITY BE A JUDAS KISS.

Britain, Poland Weigh Shuttle Plane Bombing

LONDON, Aug. 22 (AP)—A "shuttle service" by bombing planes across Germany was believed by foreign military experts today to be the most striking plan of British-French action to help Poland in event of war over Danzig.

Many suppose the British, French and Polish general staffs, quietly devising a new European war strategy, have worked out a plan for virtually continuous round-trip raids on Germany.

Germany's own "blitzkrieg" (lightning war) theory of air attack might be met with sudden, devastating raids on German plane and munition factories.

Starting from French bases, British and French planes would loose their bombs over Germany, fly on to Poland, refuel and reload with bombs, and make another raid over Germany on the way back.

AIR BASES ESTABLISHED

Big bomb and gasoline reserves for French and British planes are believed established in Poland.

Because most experts agree the initial phases of "the next war" will be fought in the air, and because to get land forces into Poland would tax her friends with a difficult strategic problem, Britain and France probably would concentrate on air force assistance.

Tacticians pointed out, however, the new German-Soviet agreement would complicate the problem of aid from Britain and France, particularly if the agreement excluded Russia from furnishing supplies to a foe of Germany.

Some observers believe Britain might try to ship an expeditionary force to Poland from Palestine, where approximately 100,000 British soldiers are stationed.

Assuming Germany's axis partner, Italy, entered the conflict, the British Mediterranean fleet probably would strike at Italy from the south.

Hitler Rushes Shock Troops to Vital Points

PARIS, Aug. 22 (INS)—German regulars are moving to potential fighting zones in the Reich, reports received in Paris stated today.

These advices said regulars are being replaced in the cities and central areas of the Reich by reservists, thus they are free for duty along the frontiers.

French officials regarded this development as extremely grave. They said it is the first time the Germans have resorted to this maneuver.

NEVILLE'S RULE SEEN TOTTERING

LONDON, Aug. 22 (AP)—Soviet Russia's surprising about-face in policy to join Germany in a non-aggression pact was described in most British political circles today as a major blow to British-French front at a crucial turn in European affairs and a personal diplomatic defeat for Prime Minister Chamberlain.

Political critics of the prime minister called the new development a direct sequel to his former policy of "appeasement" and Russia's revenge for her treatment by the western powers during last year's Czechoslovakian crisis and her exclusion from the Munich conference.

The immediate question raised in political quarters, apart from the military effect on British-French pledges to aid Poland in event of aggression against her, was the politicalconsequences for the Chamberlain government.

Long before negotiations opened at Moscow in April for a triple alliance of Britain, France and Russia, Chamberlain had been pressed by almost the whole of his political opposition and by many liberal conservatives to hasten a pact with this World War ally.

He was told also that continued British "snubbing" of Russia, as his political critics expressed it, might eventually drive Russia into the arms of Germany with disastrous consequences for the western powers.

Sorry — But I Have to Scratch

Unless You Give Me Relief

Don't blame the weather or animal nature when your dog scratches and sheds his coat ruthlessly. It isn't nature's way at all.

A dog's blood may be continually affected by impurities, produced by the results of parasitic life, improper food, lack of natural exercise and impaired elimination. These conditions act to set up an intense irritation in the nerve endings of his skin. No wonder he is fretful, nervous. He is in torment.

He looks to YOU for help and you can give it QUICKLY.

Rex Hunters Tasteless Dog Powders in sanitary capsules provide blood tonic, eliminate and a reconstructive for dogs of all breeds, any age. Given regularly on Saturdays each week they act to quickly relieve disorders due to lack of proper conditioning that cause scratching, loose coat, listlessness, poor appetite, bad breath and skin irritations. They work to make your pet happier, healthier and more contented.

Inexpensive and easy to administer, Rex Hunters Dog Powders—the prescription of a prominent English Veterinary surgeon, are now for sale at leading Dog Stores and Pet Shops. Their well-directed action should show a quick effect. You may never know how fine your dog can be until you have tried them. Ask for Rex Hunters Dog Powders—keep Dogs Fit.

WE HEARD a young State Department career man holding forth ... on the old story of the importance of nice manners when you do business with South American business men.

Germans, Italians, Englishmen and Japanese are all supposed to outpoint us on the leisurely and genteel approach to a deal or a contract.

I have long treasured a story to tell ... behaved impeccably in a Latin-American contretemps of great delicacy, and in which another American visited every code Emily Post ... upon the latter, whose manners were dreadful.

EDWIN C. HILL
"The Worst Happened"

IT WAS ONE of the yarns of Admiral Peattie, long remembered in Park Row, bound to lose much in the telling, because the admiral was an artist both in life and off hand boiled letters.

"It was the ace bullfight of many years in Panama," said the admiral "The Babe Ruth of Spanish bullfighters had been brought from Spain. The president was there with his handsomely uniformed entourage, and in his box was the daughter of a New York multi millionaire.

"The bulls, however, weren't so hot, and I felt that an afternoon at the Chicago stockyards would be just as sporting. With the entry of the big shot from Spain the stands were gaga with excitement. Here was the big moment.

"They let in the bull, a big, shambling chap, who didn't seem to have his mind on his work.

"Then, looming over the edge of the arena was the scarecrow figure of old Bill Trudgeon, a rootin' Missourian well-digger, at work on the canal. Old Bill was six feet-three, lean and leathery, with a huge scraggly moustache. He was pleasantly lit.

"A howl of rage went up from the crowd as they realized that old Bill was rousing the matador. Then the worst happened. Opening his umbrella he pass huied down into the arena. The crowd framed and screamed, but could do nothing.

"THE BULL'S curiosity was aroused, and he galloped over toward the intruder. Bill closed his umbrella and paraded the matador's stance, making a grandiose pass as the bull went by. For a few minutes old Bill, with his umbrella lance, gagged the bullfight, to the frozen scorn of the handsome matador. The audience is probably under the care of psychiatrists to this day.

"When they tried to let the bull out, they opened the wrong gate and it galloped into the open, where stood a good section of the Panamanian army—little hare-footed soldiers with guns seven feet long. Bill was in pursuit, thumping the bull on the rump with his umbrella. The soldiers scattered, then rallied bravely. Bill dumped one or two, and they pretty nearly had to call out the rest of the army before they got him under control late that night.

"The millionaire's daughter made profuse apologies for the behavior of her uncouth compatriot, in a newspaper interview the next day. She said she had enjoyed the bullfight tremendously, up to that disgraceful moment."

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 22 - I have just been sent a report which gives ... of an investigation made in the State of Tennessee ... to be applicable everywhere in the country. I am going to give you a few ...

"So, to get around to the bug that's 'eating on me,' and has been since the first week of the review, it seems to me that the WPA should have in its budget somewhere a fund to cure itself and that this fund should provide a staff of experts—geologists, agriculturists, economists and engineers—to survey ... to examine all of the economic possibilities of each working area.

"If they should decide that a community is so impressively inadequate to the needs of its population as I am afraid this county is, then the government ought to buy it up and plant it in forests.

"If, on the other hand, they found some ways and means for a population to remain in its habitat, the information should be put in the hands of the chamber of commerce, or individuals who can afford to develop the resources... I would like, also, to see a group of trained psychologists and doctors do a more thorough review of WPA ... conduct of unemployables.

Fashion Flash

OPEN toes and heels are fighting a losing battle with autumn and the stylists. Now the cry is to wear "shoes that look like shoes." And it is very likely that you will be a bit sore forget all because of the fad. But new elasticized leathers will make your feet more comfortable. You still may have a bit of open toe in front, but there.

Flushing Feet have new styles, for they've promoted the low heel, and you'll be seeing many this fall.

Appetizing Ice-Box Foods

By MARTHA LEE

One of the easiest methods of preparing foods and turning out appetizing things these warm days is employing the ice box.

The warmer the weather, the louder the cry of "don't bother with any cooking, just have pick-ups." But it would be another story if there were nothing to "pick up." And, after all, we can't go on having pickups indefinitely without preparing food from which to get them in the first place. So it all comes right back to the fact that a little cooking must be done if we want to eat.

Two recipes were giving today are for ice box cakes: one is rather expensive to make but you'll save on it in the long run because it is very rich and only small portions need be served. The other is not so expensive and for people who [illegible] for too rich a dessert, it is just the [illegible] right.

MOCHA BUTTER ICE BOX CAKE

(8 servings)

2 [illegible] lady fingers, or
1 [illegible] cake
[illegible] lb. butter
[illegible] cups [illegible]
[illegible] lb. of soft
[illegible] cup cocoa
[illegible] cups [illegible] sugar
[illegible] squares unsweetened chocolate
[illegible]
[illegible] cup [illegible]
[illegible] cup whipped [illegible]
[illegible] ice and bottom of glass [illegible]
[illegible] lady fingers, split [illegible]
[illegible] cream butter, add [illegible]
[illegible] vanilla heat thoroughly
[illegible] sugar gradually, add [illegible]
[illegible] light and fluffy. [illegible]
[illegible]

MOCHA PUDDING ICE BOX CAKE

(8 servings)

1 2-3 cups strong coffee
Plain cake

Add milk and coffee gradually to pudding. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly, cool. Line a 4-inch spring form pan or a bowl with narrow strips of cake. When putting in [illegible] pour into cake lined pan. Cover with strips of cake. Chill for 24 hours. Unmold and serve with cream if desired.

Love and Marriage

Girl Left Him; Back to 'Gang'

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

For three years or [illegible] although we [illegible] that time I did [illegible] always thought we'd be [illegible] ling of marriage.

I [illegible] going with my old [illegible] aggravation because they [illegible] much. This made her very [illegible] at the time. But I didn't realize how much I cared until I saw her going out with other boys lately. And now I hear that she has a new "steady."

SUGAR COOKIES

(TESTED BY GOOD HOUSEKEEPING INSTITUTE)

INGREDIENTS

[illegible] cup shortening
[illegible] cup granulated sugar
[illegible] eggs, well beaten
[illegible] tsp. vanilla extract
[illegible] cups sifted cake flour
[illegible] tsp. salt
[illegible] tsp. baking powder

METHOD OF PREPARATION

[illegible] gradually and [illegible]
[illegible]. Add the eggs and [illegible]
[illegible]. Mix and sift [illegible] and baking powder, and add [illegible] the dough and roll out to [illegible] thickness on a lightly [illegible] board. Cut into desired shapes with a floured cutter; place [illegible] greased baking sheet, brush with milk and sprinkle with sugar. Bake in a hot oven of 400 deg. F. for 10 min. Makes about 3 doz. cookies. To make 1½ doz. cookies, make half this recipe. In using an electric beater, allow the shortening to stand at room temperature until soft, then cream for 1 min. using high speed. Add the sugar gradually still using high speed. Then scrape the bowl and beat 1 min. Add the eggs, unbeaten, one at a time, and beat for 1 min. after each addition. Scrape the bowl, add the vanilla and beat a few seconds longer. Turn to lowest speed and add the flour, salt and baking powder sifted together. Scrape the bowl and beat a few seconds longer, then proceed as directed above.

SERVE for children's parties with chocolate milk or vanilla ice cream or include in the picnic basket.

Mrs. Malcolm Bancroft (Jean Tuckerman), who recently returned from her honeymoon, was greeted by Kitty Pentecost, Eddie Fay and a large group of tennis fans who surrounded her during intermission . . . The Hobart Spauldings, Jr., were on hand for the finals, as were Mr. and Mrs. James Jackson, and Katharine and Elizabeth Putnam, both armed with candid cameras . . .

Mrs. David Taylor (Connie Matless), took a respite from her search for "parlor, bedroom and bath" on Beacon Hill to wait on the tables with a group of young friends . . . She and Dave, who were married in May, have an apartment on the top floor of the Matless home in Cohasset for the summer, but hope to move to the Hill soon after Labor Day . . .

MRS. LOUIS W. MUNRO of Cohasset smilingly anticipates the festive social program which is part and parcel of every Cohasset Horse Show. The annual tanbark exhibitions opens Thursday at the private show ring on the estate of Mrs. Hugh Bancroft. Mr. and Mrs. Munro are committee members for the event, as well as for the Horse Show Ball Friday evening.

Louise Harding Weds in Brookline

SHIRRED WHITE NET fashions the summery bridal gown of Louise Harding of Chestnut Hill, who becomes the bride of Henry Edwards Russell in the First Parish Church, Brookline, this afternoon . . . The gown is made with a full length train and a tulle veil which falls from a cap of rose point lace and orange blossoms . . .

White also predominates in the costumes of the bridesmaids, as well as in the decorations of gladioli and ferns at the church . . . Mrs. James M. Parker, former president of the Junior League, and Mrs. S. Rodger Callaway, sisters of the bride, head the large procession of attendants, all dressed in white starched marquisette with wreaths of gardenia buds in their hair . . . They are carrying bouquets of white gladioli and maiden hair fern . . .

Mrs. Joseph Bragdon (Marjorie Saltonstall), Mrs. Francis Sargent (Jessie Fay), Mrs. John D. Gannett (Martha Endicott), Dorothy Rackemann, Marian Wood, all of Boston, and Constance Matthews of Pasadena, Cal., complete the group of attendants . . .

Bandit Won't Take 60c But Steals Taxicab

Fred O'Donnell lost his taxi but he kept his 60 cents today when a bandit who had held him up in Washington st., Newton declined to take the money.

O'Donnell, who is 26 and lives in Pleasant st., Watertown, picked up his fare in Watertown sq. and was instructed to drive to Wellesley. Near the Newton Hospital, the man put a revolver against O'Donnell's neck and told him to stop the cab and "scram."

"This is a case of life and death to me," said the bandit. "How much carry have you got?"

"Sixty cents," said O'Donnell.

"Keep it and buy yourself a cigar," said the stranger, with a wave of the hand as he drove off.

Camerman's Rites Thursday

Funeral arrangements for John [illegible], 61, veteran staff photographer on the Boston Herald, were completed today.

Burial will be in Mount Auburn cemetery, Cambridge, following services at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Arthur W. Sweetser funeral home, 1815 Commonwealth ave., Brighton. Mr. [illegible] died Sunday in the Peter Bent Brigham hospital after a long illness.

Born in Boston, he was graduated from Medford high school in 1895 and began his career as a photographer with the Herald. He was married to Miss Mary [illegible] of Medford.

Night Baseball An Iron Lung for Bees

WHAT WITH TAXES, PLAYER COSTS, salary commitments and upkeep, I hope the Boston Bees will not think me presumptuous in hinting that they could use some more income. So, for two cents a copy, I am offering them this perfectly priceless, though not original idea, to install batteries of flood lights on their grandstand roof before next Spring and play a schedule of night games as a means of luring larger payloads of customers.

This is sure to offend Bob Quinn's eyes. Because the sturdy little magnate has often expressed his contempt of night baseball as an ugly weed growth likely to choke the lovely flowers of the game's idealism. But Bob must agree that baseball is a business based on the principle of making profits. And so however fine his scruples against vulgar showmanship may be, Bob is not a man to deny himself and his employers some profits.

The Boston Bees have a background of considerable wealth, but the wealth is tucked away in other vaults than the Bees and hence is not handy for such lavish spending as [illegible] Commonwealth ave. where the Red Sox live. Unlike Tom Yawkey, the solitary cash angle of the Sox, the Bees' money props are several and have to look longer at their dollars.

By JACK CONWAY

THE MAD PENNANT charge of the St. Louis Cardinals has got the Cincinnati Reds very jittery. Even Bill McKechnie's Scotch calm and remarkable baseball strategy hasn't been able to steady his club as the 1939 model of the Gas House Gang has come roaring through the home stretch of the National League pennant fight.

When the Cardinals crashed the Reds for two losses on Sunday, they closed the gap between themselves and the McKechnie clan to 3½ games and convinced everybody that their flag drive is the real thing. The Reds picked up a game yesterday.

The collapse of the Reds' pitching staff has been the most amazing part of the blow-up. Even Bucky Walters has been unable to halt the drive by enemy bats.

Three weeks ago it appeared as if the Reds would coast to the National League pennant. At the time the Cardinals had started their winning streak, but nobody took it seriously. The Gas House Gang soon found that its 1939 model had quick pickup and terrific speed. The new buggy kept sweeping past everything in sight.

The Gas House Gang has won 19 of their last 23 starts, and tied one game. That is a sensational record. A club traveling at that speed certainly has something.

A year ago it was the Pittsburgh Pirates who got the jitters when the Cubs under Gabby Hartnett started to pound on their heels. Now it is the Reds who are suffering from a bad case of nerves as the Gas House Gang closes in on them.

Within striking distance of the Reds, the Gas House Gang will probably continue to play at top speed. It hasn't the mental strain that always attaches to a slipping club. The Cardinals have everything to gain, while a mistake on the part of the Reds may knock them from the baseball heights.

Joe Medwick, Johnny Mize, the Martins and those other carefree souls who make up the Cardinals like the fire that goes with crucial pennant drives, and I have an idea these boys will not wilt in the run through the stretch. It looks as if Bill McKechnie should tell his players that they should make their stand before the Gas House Gang has walked right into their dugout and taken over their claim to World's Series checks.

Yanks Hold Off Rush of the Red Sox

IT IS GROWING on towards the latter part of August and Joe McCarthy's Yankees continue to hold off the pennant rush of the Red Sox. I am inclined to believe that the Yanks will still be looking back at the Sox a month hence when the league season will be almost over.

The failure of the Red Sox to catch the Yanks has not been due to the fact Joe Cronin's club has not been playing good ball. It has, but so have the Yanks.

Joe Cashman calls attention to the fact the position of the Yanks is improved over that of a year ago. The tightness of the American League race is due to the fact the Sox have played improved baseball rather than to any collapse on the part of the world's champions.

The Yanks experienced their worst setback of the year when the Sox paraded into New York and defeated them in five straight games. Once the Cronins were out of town the Yanks got a breather, and their pitchers began clicking again.

It is my opinion that the Red Sox are stronger in the infield than the Yanks, while the Cronins match the Yanks in outfield power. It is in battery strength that the Yanks have the edge that will probably enable them to win the American League pennant again this year, and then go on to turn back their National League opposition.

The loss of Bill Dickey would be as disastrous to the Yanks as would an injury that would put Joe DiMaggio out of the game. In addition to being a great hitter and fine catcher, Dickey is an A1 baseball strategist. It is Dickey's brain that directs the fire of the Yankee pitchers. Even top flingers like Gomes and Ruffing look to Dickey to name the pitch in tight moments of the game.

If the Sox had a catcher of Dickey's ability, their pitching staff might do better. One wrong pitch is often the difference between winning and losing a ball game. Dickey's presence behind the bat also casts an air of confidence through the entire New York team.

Random Shots at Target

COACH RAY FLAHERTY of the Washington Redskins says he will drop half a dozen of his veterans to make way for some of his rookies . . . Flaherty declares his ball carriers will be picked from Dick Todd, Jimmy Johnston, Andy Farkas, Frank Filchock, Sammy Baugh, Max Krause, Wilbur Moore, Jimmy German, Charley Helm, Don Irwin and George Karamatic . . . The blockers in the Redskins' camp are Ernie Pinckert, Ed Justice, Tillie Manton, Jay Turner, Red Moran, Jim Meade and Elwood Borck . . . The Redskins will play an all-star college group here on Sept. 11.

Likes Night Ball

I have seen night ball games in Brooklyn and in Cincinnati and like the game. It also gives persons who work during the day an opportunity to see big league baseball. I believe the Sox should try to get over the mental hazard that always confronts them when they play ball at night.

I note the Sox play a night game with Chicago on Thursday. Let us hope they will do better than they did under the lights against the A's.

William Hartley, Belmont.

Medwick Has Helped

It is a good thing for the Cardinals that they adjusted their differences with Joe Medwick. The latter's hitting has been a big factor in the pennant drive of the Gas House Gang.

Coast Guard Personnel Anglers' Best Friends

By DARK MONTREAL

The tragedy at Rye, N. H., sharply emphasizes the fallacy of abandoning Coast Guard stations. Millions in more taxes, millions for new projects, but a false and cruel economy in the Coast Guard life saving service!

The coast guard service is guardian of the thousands who fish daily from small boats off the New England coast. Anglers should demand more instead of fewer stations, with the increasing interest in sea fishing.

I doubt if there has been a day in the last 10 years when the coast guard in New England has not been called to the assistance of some small craft in distress, and on some days these calls run into the hundreds.

Paul Bauer, who lost that record tuna after an 11-hour fight earlier in the season, was into another giant in Ipswich Bay during the Sunday storm and fog. This was a shorter but more ferocious fight that ended with a snapped 54-thread line.

Incidently, I'm campaigning for a Massachusetts man—any Massachusetts man—on the United States team that will go to Wedgeport, N. S., for the International Tuna Angling Matches Sept. 6-9. The withdrawal of Ben Crowninshield, named on the original team, has caused wide regrets.

The Marblehead-Boston broker says he can't spare the time from business which means the nation's No. 1 tuna angler (in my opinion) won't be on hand. Inasmuch as more and bigger tuna are being taken in Ipswich Bay than anywhere else in the country, it would seem only logical and just that one of the Ipswich Bay angling fraternity should get the call.

Fish Heads and Tales

When J. R. Logan, cabinet maker, of 256 Highland ave. and Roderick Innis, of 12 Bay State ave., both Somerville, met recently in one of their periodic confabs, an unusual fish story came to light.

Mr. Logan and Mr. Innis were boys together 50 to 60 years ago on the west branch of the River John, in Pictou, Nova Scotia.

"Remember the well and spring water at my father's old home, Rod?" Logan asked as they puffed their pipes.

"I do," replied Innis. "That was the best water I ever drank."

FATHER PROTECTED TROUT

"Well, the biggest trout I ever saw I caught in that well," said Logan. "I put it in there when I was a boy when it was too small to eat. Every year or so after I'd left there, I'd go back home and the trout was still in the well and I'd tell father: 'Father, I'm going to eat that trout this time.' But he'd always tell me, 'No, you're not, son. That's my trout now and I'll never let anybody eat him.'

"The trout grew bigger and bigger and my father actually came to have an affection for it.

"When I went home for a visit after about 20 years, the trout was a beauty. 'I'll eat him this time, father,' I said. 'Nobody'll eat Willie,' was my father's reply again.

"Well, that night I had occasion to draw up a pail of water. It was wark and I thought I felt something moving around my feet but I paid no attention. Next morning we found Willie there on the ground by the well dead. Evidently I'd drawn him up in the bucket and he flopped out.

"My father actually grieved for that fish. I said, 'Well, father, I'll have him for my breakfast now.'

"Did I?" I did not. He buried that trout in a nice wooden box out under the trees and I put up a board for a tombstone with this inscription: "Sacred to the memory of Willie—for 20 years a good pet fish and a friend.' 'Twas the only fish I ever heard of that had a funeral, a coffin and a headstone."

Having digested that you'll appreciate the story of the New York doctor who recently caught a perch, hung it overside on his fish chain, than caught a 3½ pound bass, which he added to the string. The chain became detached from the boat and sank. Four days later the doctor cast a crawfish in the same pond and caught the same bass, which had lost one pound in weight. How did he know it was the same bass? Because it was dragging around the chain with a dead perch on it.

And having digested that you may like Bill Laubenstein's story of catching a perch and keeping it alive in a pail of water in the boat. Changing position on the pond he dropped his hooked minnow bait into the same pail to keep it alive, and the perch swallowed it. Bill disgorged the hook, baited up and caught the perch with a fresh bait in the same pail.

Having digested that . . . What? You didn't? Okay. No dessert, please.

Tioga II Arrives First at Halifax from Marblehead

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 22 (INS)—Coming in out of a thick fog, Harry Noyes' yawl, Tioga 2d, was first to arrive here today in a yacht race from Marblehead, Mass., to Halifax.

Since the Noyes craft carried no handicap, the winner of the race will not be known until the others arrive. E. R. Hathaway's Pirouette put into Yarmouth, the owner deciding not to continue in the race.

Will Elbie Upset the Hive?

Sparking the hustling Pittsburghers to frequent hard-won victories these days is your Bees' former first baseman, Elbie Fletcher. Since donning Pirate raiment, the popular ex-Bee has been swinging a winning bat—walloping that old apple like he's never been known to sock before!

Wheaties and advertising claims for them are accepted by the Council on Foods of the American Medical Association.

"I eat Wheaties a lot more often than any other cereal because there is really something different about the taste. You can't beat it!" says Elbie Fletcher. The Pirates' popular first-sacker enjoys his "Breakfast of Champions" regularly—Wheaties, with plenty of milk or cream, and some fresh fruit. How about you?

Recipe for a perfect day: lead off with Joe Cronin at bat in National League Wheaties, a product of General Mills, Inc.

ARMSTRONG, AMBERS RENEW RING WARFARE

NEW YORK, Aug. 22 (AP)—The little guy who never lost a fight and the other little guy who never drops a return match tangle in Yankee Stadium tonight for 15 rounds for the world lightweight championship, in what promises to be the cauliflower "natural" of the year.

The one is Hammerin' Henry Armstrong, champion of the lightweights and the welterweights and abdicated emperor of the featherweights. The other is Lew Ambers, swing-singing socker from Herkimer, N. Y., who lost the title to the Hammer a year ago in one of the toughest and closest tussles around these parts since Tammany and Fusion went at it.

Some 30,000 of the faithful probably will contribute to a gross gate of between $120,000 and $150,000 to see the tea party, which gets underway about 9 p. m. (E.S.T.).

HENRY FAVORITE

At this writing, the tussle figures so close that Armstrong, a 1-5 favorite in their first meeting, is no better than 5 to 2 now. The odds may go up to 8 or 9 to 5 by the time the gong sounds. But the little Brown Bomber from Los Angeles will definitely not hold the lop-sided edge of a year ago.

Remembering the helplessness of Armstrong's hands in his fight only three months ago with Ernie Roderick in England, and taking some note of the fact the game little colored cloister had a hard week taking off eight pounds to make the 135-pound limit, Ambers may regain the title he won from Tony Canzoneri.

This would lead to a third fight between the two, for the welterweight laurels this fall, contracts for which have already been signed with the stipulation Lou must wind up on top tonight.

The whole fight seems to revolve around Armstrong's condition. The fearful pace he set in every one of his outings in his skyrocketing rise to fistic heights, which saw him run up a string of 46 straight victories and become the first man in fistic history to hold three titles simultaneously, makes it a large question as to just how long he can keep it up.

Many of the faithful feel he has passed his peak, that the "perpetual motion" mauling for which he is famous has taken too much out of him.

AMBERS GAME

Then, too, although his handlers claim his hands are stronger than ever, there's no telling just what can happen to a mended bone when it bangs against the side of another man's skull.

Against that, Ambers offers one of the most puzzling types of ring craft to solve, and a heart as big as a balloon. He won't be outgamed, he's always on the move in the ring, and, where he was a cream puff puncher in the past, he has suddenly developed a short right hand shot which, his sparmates tell you, is nothing to fool around with.

WALTHAM BOY, 16, PACING CADDIES WITH GREAT 72

By BILL GRIMES

COMMONWEALTH COUNTRY CLUB, Aug. 22—Mike Abramo, 16-year-old caddy from Minute Man and a Waltham High student, raced into the early lead in the State Caddy Championship here today with a 72 for the first round of the 36-hole medal play fight.

Abramo's round was only two strokes over par. He went out in 35, par golf, and came home in 37, going one over on each of the first two holes. His card:

Out	4	4	3	3	5	4	4	3	5—35
In	3	4	4	4	5	4	4	4	5—37—72

Two strokes back was Charley Freeman, Arlmont, with 36-38—74, another fine round. His card:

Out	4	4	4	3	4	3	5	4	5—36
In	3	5	4	4	5	3	5	4	5—38—74

Jim Harvey, another unheralded contender from Arlmont, was one shot back and tied for third with Paul Donahue of Belmont, with 75's.

Ernie Doherty of Woburn, runnerup for the title to retired champion Ed Stone, was in good position with a pair of 38's for a sound 76.

Melody Wins Yacht Race

PORT WASHINGTON, L. I., Aug. 22 (AP)—Paul Smart's Melody from Noroton, Conn., was the winner in the first of a series of five races to determine the star class yacht championship of the Atlantic coast.

Twenty star class sloops, pick of the fleets from Cape Ann, Mass., to Nassau, in the Bahamas were on hand at the Manhasset Bay Yacht Club for the tests which will continue through Friday. The second race is set for today.

Second to Smart was Mrs. Gorham Godwin of Peconic Bay in her craft Hi-Hat. Paul V. Shields in his Jackrose, also from Peconic, was third.

Mrs. Godwin sailed a smart race, but the Melody caught and passed her sloop near the end to win by 25 seconds over ten and one half miles.

Shields' Jackrose was hard pressed for third place honors by Stanley Turner's Migs of the Western Long Island Sound fleet and H. E. Meislahn's Sunbeam II of Moriches Bay. They finished fourth and fifth.

Yankee Troupe Bout to Farm Hands

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y., Aug. 22 (AP)—The world champion Yankees, visiting the birthplace of baseball here, were defeated by their farm hands, the Newark Bears of the International League, 5 to 4 in 11 innings. It was one of the outstanding events on the Cooperstown centennial year baseball program and an overflow crowd of 10,000 attended the contest on Doubleday Field.

A double by George Washburn, Newark pitcher, scored Mike Chartak with the winning run. Hump Hadley was the Yankees' pitcher at the finish. He followed Spurgeon Chandler, who pitched nine innings, to the mound.

ADAM JR. WINS

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 22 (AP)—Adam Jr., Chestnut gelding driven by the veteran Sep Palin of Indianapolis, easily distanced the field in the 2:24 pace opening the Wisconsin State Fair harness races on a track softened by recent heavy rains.

Bob King to Ride At Medford, Thrusday

Riding the victory trail again, Bob King, one of the best liked speed kings in this part of the country, is out to duplicate his recent win in the feature at Riverside Park, Medford, next Thursday night.

PETER SOHASKI DICK RYHOLM JERRY CAHIR BOB McCABE JOE O'SULLIVAN BILL BUCKLEY

TOTE THEIR OWN—Carrying club is second nature to these cady championship entrants, so despite today's heat they lug their own, at Commonwealth. Pete Sohaski is from Riverside C. C.; Richard Ryhalm and Jerry Cahir, Hatcherly; Bob McCabe and Joe O'Sullivan, Gren Hill, and Bill Buckley, Thorny Lea.

Pros Will Test O'Brien's Passing in All-Star Game

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 22 (AP)—The passing prowess that made Davey O'Brien a terror to Texas Christian foes gets its first pro test tonight when Davey and ten other Philadelphia Eagles take on the College All-Stars in a charity game at Temple Stadium.

To offset the Eagles' wizard, the All-Stars count on an array which includes End Don Daughters of Harvard and Guard Greg Zitrides of Dartmouth.

Colored Giants Play St. Thomas

The semipro fans of Greater Boston will have the opportunity of witnessing one of the best attractions available in semipro baseball when the Philadelphia Colored Giants meet the strong St. Thomas C. C. of Jamaica Plain at the Carolina ave. grounds tonight.

Manager Johnson of the Giants has promised to pitch the famous Negro pitcher, Will Jackman, for two or three innings, and otherwise the team will line up the same as they did last Thursday night at Healy Field, when they defeated the Brodindale Town Club, leaders of the Boston Twilight League.

The St. Thomas Club defeated the Hobnes team last Friday night and are out to add the Giants to their list of victories. Frank Lucas will pitch for St. Thomas with Buddy Hopkins handling the catching assignment.

Death Smile

Her face calm and peaceful and lighted by a faint smile, the body of Ethelyn Cutter, 18, of Newmarket, N. H., is lifted from the beach at Rye, N. H., where it was cast by incoming tide. Miss Cutter met drowning death with her fiance, Walter Hargraves, 44, and four others, when their boat was wrecked on fishing party.
